The W, as ever with this exclusive international chain, is one of the smartest, chicest hotels in Santiago. It's a glorious, gleaming building, visually impressive with some spectacular spaces. Chief among them is the rooftop bar, Red2One, which offers a dazzling view out over the Andes and the Santiago skyline. Located on the hotel's 21st floor, the glass-walled space is visually appealing, a striking mix of red and white which stands out against the brilliant blue of the sky. The cocktails are on the money and the crowd is as trendy and glossy as the space. Given its setting, the bar is seasonal and open from September to April.
